Section 7 (Right to Access Personal Data and Other Rights)

1. A data subject shall have the right to obtain confirmation as to whether or not personal data concerning him exist, regardless of their being already recorded, and communication of such data in intelligible form.
2. A data subject shall have the right to be informed
 - a) of the source of the personal data;
 - b) of the purposes and methods of the processing;
 - c) of the logic applied to the processing, if the latter is carried out with the help of electronic means;
 - d) of the identification data concerning data controller, data processors and the representative designated as per Section 5(2);
 - e) of the entities or categories of entity to whom or which the personal data may be communicated and who or which may get to know said data in their capacity as designated representative(s) in the States territory, data processor(s) or person(s) in charge of the processing.
3. A data subject shall have the right to obtain
 - a) updating, rectification or, where interested therein, integration of the data;
 - b) erasure, anonymization or blocking of data that have been processed unlawfully, including data whose retention is unnecessary for the purposes for which they have been collected or subsequently processed;
 - c) certification to the effect that the operations as per letters
 - a) and b) have been notified, as also related to their contents, to the entities to whom or which the data were communicated or disseminated, unless this requirement proves impossible or involves a manifestly disproportionate effort compared with the right that is to be protected.
4. A data subject shall have the right to object, in whole or in part,
 - a) on legitimate grounds, to the processing of personal data concerning him/her, even though they are relevant to the purpose of the collection;
 - b) to the processing of personal data concerning him/her, where it is carried out for the purpose of sending advertising materials or direct selling or else for the performance of market or commercial communication surveys.

Access to the site does not require the input of any personal particulars. No personal data deriving from the use of the web service is communicated or divulged. Cookies are not used to transfer personal data information nor are c.d cookies, or rather user tracing systems, used of any kind. The use of c.d. session cookies (which are not memorised in a constant way on the user's computer and which vanish with the closure of the browser) is strictly limited to the transfer of session identifiers (made up of random numbers generated by the server) necessary to allow the secure and efficient exploration of the site.

Cookies are small text files which are transferred through the user's web server to the hard disk during navigation. Cookies are allotted to users individually and are solely read by the web server which originally sent them. They cannot be used to spread computer viruses or to run programs but can be used to personalise a user's access to a web site and generally contain an unambiguous identifier which allows the site to retain information about every visitor. The type of information stored and disclosed and the way in which they are used are determined by the web server which created the cookie.

Operating normally, computer systems including the software procedures used for the running of this web site, obtain personal data of which the transfer is implicit when using the internet and is which is based on the TCP/IP protocol. (E.g. IP address). This information is not collected in order to be linked to specific interests, but allows the identification of its web users through the elaboration and association of information held by third-party service providers. IP addresses can be collected from all visitors who access the interactive sections of our web site. The data collected is then used for the management of the company's technical and administrative operations, the diagnosis of possible technical problems and the prevention of intrusion and abuse of the service. IP addresses collected during navigation of the site will also be used for internal statistical purposes concerning the most frequently visited areas of the site and the geographical origins of the user.

Potential personal data obtained through the specific areas of this site is dealt with by automated tools solely for the time period strictly necessary to achieve the purposes for which it was originally collected. The systems are equipped with the appropriate and necessary security measures in order to prevent the loss of, misuse of and access to data by unauthorised persons.

The Data Subject can exercise the rights referred to in Section 7 of Legislative Decree no. 196/2003, in particular the verification of the existence of personal data, knowledge of its content and origin, proof of accuracy, amendments, cancellation or restriction by sending an email to commercial@sipamenergy.com
